Julien Mathis
Co-founder and Chief Executive Officer, Europe

Julien Mathis is co-founder and CEO of Centreon responsible for driving growth throughout Europe and international markets.

Prior to this, Julien served as Chief Technology Officer of Centreon, responsible for driving the company's long-term technology vision, research and development strategy. Julien was instrumental in the development of its flagship solution over the years into an autonomous monitoring software suite, which delivers unified views and streamlines interoperable monitoring for decentralized IT operations and converging infrastructures. Prior to co-founding Centreon, he served as an IT consultant, web developer and system administrator with the French Banking Federation.

Julien is a graduate from EPITECH, the European Institute of Technology, and holds a master's degree in computer science. He is also trained in the SCRUM methodology and is certified in ITIL.

Julien lives in Paris with his wife and three sons. Beyond a passion for open source development and cloud technology, he gets excited by new world-changing technologies, in particular AI, machine learning and the blockchain. Julien plays tennis to keep fit and loves tinkering around his new house, like building a terrace from scratch.
